

Air Force JROTC

Eastern Suffolk BOCES is pleased to announce available space in our current Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFJROTC) Program located at Patchogue-Medford High School for the 2020-21 school year. The AFJROTC mission is to develop citizens of character dedicated to serving their nation and community. The goal of AFJROTC is to instill values of citizenship, personal responsibility, service to the United States and a sense of accomplishment. There is no military commitment for students to join this program. Program activities include drill teams, field trips, community service projects, color guards, parades, model rocketry, astronomy, leadership training and an annual banquet. Program benefits include mentorship, comradery, and the opportunity to receive a free private pilot's license.

If your students can benefit from a curriculum of leadership education, aerospace science, and health and wellness, contact Danielle Hudek: dhudek@esboces.org 631-244-4250

Cost:
$24,268 per unit of 10 students plus transportation.

This program is part of an Eastern Suffolk
BOCES aidable service.